DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11/7/05 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-11 and 13-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The originally filed specification lacks support for the limitation of the valve assembly separate from the piston in communication with the upper and lower working chambers and the reserve chamber being a single valve assembly of the adjustable shock absorber. The original specification also lacks support for the limitation of the first flow path being the only flow path extending between the upper working chamber and the reserve chamber.

Re: claim 1. With regards to the single valve assembly limitation in line 9 from the bottom of claim 1, Examiner notes that the valve assembly shown in the area of element 20 of the instant invention represents a valve assembly that is separate from the piston and is in communication directly with the lower and reserve chambers and indirectly with the upper chamber via the lower chamber. Since the base valve assembly 20 is a valve assembly separate from the piston and in communication with the upper and lower working chambers and the reserve chambers, the valve assembly 22 is not a single valve assembly separate from the piston in communication with the upper and lower working chambers and the reserve chamber as claimed.

With regards to the first flow path recitation in the last two lines of claim 1, Examiner notes that in addition to the recited flow path between the upper working chamber and the reserve chamber, there is another flow path that exists between the upper working chamber and the reserve chamber. Lines 6-7 from the bottom of pg. 5 of the instant specification recites that "a check valve 42 allows fluid flow from reserve chamber 38 to lower working chamber 26 through passages 40." Also, lines 2-3 from the bottom of pg. 4 of the instant specification recites that the "check valve 32 allows fluid flow from lower working chamber 26 through passages 28 to upper working chamber 24." These two statements in the specification describe a second flow path extending between the upper working chamber and the reserve chamber, therefore, the recitation of the first flow path being the only flow path extending between the upper and reserve chambers is new matter not supported by the original specification.

The remaining claims are rejected due to their dependency from claim 1.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-11 and 13-21 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 1st paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
